

Abbey of St Edmund and the Great Graveyard

This remarkable and highly significant historic location is protected by being, in part, a Scheduled Ancient Monument and also a statutorily listed Park and Garden. Almost all of the buildings in these areas are individually listed too, including a very large number of the gravestones and monuments. In addition to this, the whole area has a Conservation Management Plan which has been adopted by the various owners, including the Local Authority (West Suffolk Council) and St Edmundsbury Cathedral. Therefore, it seems superfluous to add to all this with yet another description of the very few non-designated heritage assets with these areas, so this has not been done.

